

NOTICE OF WORKSHOP FOR CONSULTANTS

An Overview of the Permitting Process in the Division of Land Resource Regulation

This workshop provides information and insight into the application process and commonly encountered bumps in the road to permitting under the Site Location of Development Law, Stormwater Management Law and Natural Resources Protection Act, including permit by rule. This workshop consists of a presentation by Judy Gates, licensing coordinator, and Mike Mullen, enforcement coordinator, which will be followed by an informal forum during which attendees can ask questions regarding DLRR permitting and field services activities. A representative engineer from the Division of Watershed Management will also be present to answer questions regarding permitting. Representative(s) from the Army Corps of Engineers will also attend to answer any questions about the federal permitting process. Copies of the presentation and portions of the Division's "Licensing Procedures Notebook" that may prove helpful to consultants and applicants will be provided to attendees. The Licensing Procedures Notebook contains standard operating procedures, checklists and reference information used during application processing by DLRR licensing staff.

There is no charge for this workshop.

If you are interested in attending, please contact Barbara Rancourt at (207) 287-8765 or barbara.rancourt@maine.gov to register. Please include your name, affiliation, area of expertise, phone number, and email address.

You will be contacted for your availability and a workshop session will be scheduled in your area when 15 to 20 participants have indicated an interest in attending. Any scheduled workshop dates will be posted on the Bureau of Land & Water Quality web site.
